

A Surprising Day

Last week, Sarah went to Jungle Land with her cousin. They went to watch the Monkey Dance Show there. She was very excited because it seemed to be a fun show.

At the stage, they sat close to the stage so that they could see the monkey dance clearly. The monkeys danced very well and Sarah took lots of photos of them.

Suddenly one of the monkeys jumped off the stage. It took Sarah's camera away and climbed on a tree! She felt very angry and kept shouting, 'Give me back my camera!'

While Sarah and her cousin didn't know what to do, a staff member took out a banana and waved it at the monkey. The monkey then came down! It threw Sarah's camera away and quickly went to the staff member for the banana. Luckily her camera wasn't broken. She was so relieved!

Now she knows if she would watch the show again, she needs to be careful of the naughty monkeys.
