

An awful accident

By 5C Tsang Tsz Kwan, Katie

Last week, Jonas had an accident. That morning, Jonas woke up late. The lift ran out of order, so he ran downstairs.

When he ran across Cheung Man Road near his home, he did not pay attention to the pedestrian lights. The light turned red. Suddenly, a taxi struck on him and he fell down. Jonas was injured badly, his legs were broken. The taxi and the pedestrians took a look on him. They called an ambulance. At that moment, Jonas was frightened and said, 'I was extremely painful. Could anyone help me?'

Jonas was delivered to the hospital, the doctor told him to stay in the hospital for 2 months after an operation. After the accident, he learnt to look around when he is walking on the street. He should pay attention to the pedestrian lights and keep safe all the time.
