

A Careless Man

Yesterday morning, my mother and I were on the way to go shopping. We wanted to catch a taxi. Luckily, a taxi stopped beside us and a man got off the taxi hurriedly.

After he ran away, we got into the taxi and found there was a wallet on the seat. We were curious and suspected that the wallet belonged to that man.

Then we opened the wallet and found a lot of money and the man's ID card in it. We were surprised and wondering what we should do.

Finally, we got off the taxi and handed the wallet to the police station. The police promised to find him and gave the wallet back to the man. Later, the police posted the incident on the Internet. The man finally got his wallet back and thanked us for helping him. We felt really satisfied. We also learnt that we should take good care of our own belongings.
