

Birthday Disaster

Today was David's birthday. His parents took him to 'Good Food Restaurant' to celebrate. He was very excited. 'I'm starving,' he exclaimed, 'I can eat a horse now!'

In the restaurant, there were a lot of people. 'It's crowded here,' Mom smiled, 'The food here must be very good.' They ordered a roast pigeon, a plate of fried rice, a bowl of green salad and a cheese cake.

In the middle of the meal, David felt bad. He had a stomachache. He rushed to the washroom as fast as he could. After he came out, he felt much better.

When he walked past the kitchen, he looked inside. He couldn't believe his eyes! The kitchen was full of cockroaches! Also, the chef was smoking! David couldn't control himself and screamed. The chef looked embarrassed. David ran to his parents and told them what he saw in the kitchen. They were shocked too. They all left the restaurant quickly without footing the bill and said, 'This isn't Good Food Restaurant. It should be called Bad Food Restaurant!'

After what happened today, David learnt that everyone should keep clean because it may affect our health and the first wealth is health so he would never go to that restaurant again.
