

An Awful Monkey Show Experience

Hi Rachel,

How are you? My cousin and I had a bad experience last week.

My cousin Jennie and I went to Jungle Land. At the entrance we saw that they were hosting a monkey dance show. We like watching shows so we agreed to watch. When we sat down, three monkeys started dancing. Very soon, everyone discovered one of the monkeys didn't dance well. Suddenly that monkey jumped down and snatched the camera out of Jennie's hands!

At that time, the crowd was shouting at us. Jennie was annoyed and I tried to call for the staff members. However, none of them were to be seen. Surprisingly, she climbed onto the stage and pulled that monkey down from the tree! The monkey started scratching Jennie and she cried for help.

Finally, the staff came and the monkey was caught. 'This monkey was not supposed to be in the dance!' the owner of Jungle Land said. It turned out that the new staff mixed up the number of monkeys so he thought a random monkey which sneaked in the back stage was the third one. The owner apologized and paid for Jennie's medical expense and promised not to let this happen again.

Although it was a terrible experience, I did not know that I have such a brave cousin! I look forward to hearing from you.

Love,
Sarah
