Yesterday I went to a shopping mall with my dad. It was Easter that day.

When we arrived at the shopping mall. I saw some Easter egg displays. It was very colorful! I asked my dad to take a photo for me. Then, I stood in front of the Easter eggs and smiled happily.

Suddenly, a boy rode a skateboard and ran to the crowd of people quickly. It was very dangerous! Everyone was frightened. Then, my dad stopped the boy bravely and shouted at him, "you shouldn't ride the skateboard here!" " I'm sorry! I won't do it again." he said.

In the end, the boy's parents found him in the shopping mall. The boy quickly rushed to them. He told his parents what had happened. After that, they went outside embarrassingly.
