

My Super Friends, John

Last Friday, I walked with my friend, John. When we were walking, we heard a strange sound. It was from the park. I took John towards the sound because we wanted to know what was going on.

John and I went to the park and we saw a robber pointed at a woman with a knife. The woman was terrified, "Help! Help!" screamed the woman. The robber shouted, "Give me all your money now!"

Suddenly, John turned into a super boy. He was wearing a superboy costume and he was strong. I was shocked when I saw him. He also scared the woman.

John took away the knife from the robber at a fast speed without the robber's notice and caught him. Then, he sent the robber to the police station. The woman and I both said, "Thank you, Super boy." I was happy because I found out that my friend was a superhero and he saved a life.