

A car accident

Last week, Jonas had an accident. That morning, he was late for school because he played video games all night the day before. He even forgot to set his alarm clock. When he noticed that he was late, he was very nervous. He left home immediately. Unfortunately, the lift was out of order so he had to take the stairs.

When he was on the way to school, something terrible happened to him. When he ran across the road, he didn't look at the traffic lights. He ran across the road even the red traffic lights were on. A taxi was coming at that time. The taxi driver drove too fast so he could not stop it. The taxi struck on Jonas. A pedestrian behind the traffic lights saw Jonas injured badly. He called the ambulance without a thought. When the ambulance arrived, Jonas felt extremely painful. He almost fainted.

Later, Jonas was sent to the hospital. Jonas's mother was horrified to see Jonas in the hospital with his leg broken. The doctor said, 'Jonas can't walk for two weeks and he will recover in three weeks.' Jonas was terrified after hearing what the doctor said.

In the following week, Jonas' friends and family visited him in the hospital. They were very worried about Jonas. Luckily, nothing worse happened. After his recovery, Jonas had to do some physical training for his legs so he was able to walk as fast as before. After the accident, Jonas learnt to be more careful when crossing the road. He knew that nothing is more important than having a healthy body.
